By Tom Casaday, County Extension Chairman

I hope you will notice the stories and pictures in the paper this week. Mr. Dan Presley and Mrs. Virginia Dykes have assembled some material to point out 4-H work, as this week is National 4-H Club Week.

The theme this year is "4-H: A World of Opportunity." Many doors to great opportunities have been opened to both rural and city boys and girls. Mrs. Dykes and Mr. Presley are giving the Coffee County 4-H Club program good leadership and I know that opportunities in the years ahead will increase even more for our young people.

CORN CONTEST

I have checked several Corn Fields in the past few days. Our yields are running real good; however, I haven't found anyone yet who has made 100 bushels per acre. Mr. A. W. Wilson had a field that made about 80 bushels per acre and his son's field averaged about 81 bushels per acre. I also checked a field belonging to Comer and Roy Sims and one of their fields made 86 bushels and the other field averaged about 43 bushels. These fields are located about one mile apart, but one received a good rain that the other field didn't. The Chamber of Commerce manager, O. I. Cunningham, is intensely in-

PEANUTS

I talked with Max Hildreth at the Sessions Oil Company the other day. Hildreth said that he would have some exact figures in a few days; however, he gave me some quick estimates of peanut yields. Runners brought an average of $16 a ton and Floriant brought $24 a ton. This is a better average price than normal. A lot of the farmers made a record crop money.

wise. Some lost several hundred pounds per acre due to weather conditions beyond their control. However, though, our farmers are more aware of producing high yields of peanuts than in previous years.

CATFISH PRODUCTION

Rex Lowery of Jack and Wilkinston is growing a lot of catfish. He has had some trouble in his production plans, but generally he's getting good results. James Rowell of Rt. 2 Elba is making plans to put in a pond and stock it with catfish.

I believe that Lowery and Rowell and also several others can succeed in catfish production by doing a good job with management in handling pesticides, as well as keeping overhead low enough to realize good profits.

SOYBEANS

I. S. Moore who works at the Elba Tractor Company, planted about six acres of soybeans this year and has a good bean crop. Moore is trying to learn something about growing them. Isaac Boutwell, who lives at 2141 Pinehurst Drive in Enterprise, has planted over 200 acres up near Brundledge. Boutwell told me that he won't make much money on them this year but he is learning how to control and handle weeds and grass.

This bears out some statements that Dean Bond, Soybean Specialist in Auburn, made concerning soybeans. Bond said that you have to learn how to grow them before you can be really successful. Of course, Tom Finley, Frank Britt, Jimmy and Earl Henderson have planted beans off and on for several years and know some of the ups and downs of this crop. Moorewell is planning to follow his beans with wheat. He wants to get the wheat planted before December 1 if possible.

C. E. PEACOCK, superintendent of Coffee County Schools, is pictured demonstrating the new machines the schools of the county have purchased for the purpose of testing hearing and sight. Much depends on students' ability to see and hear and it is believed that this machine will do a lot toward finding that many students who appear slow in their work are actually not able to see and hear.

Tigers Win Homecoming Game 14-0

The Elba Tigers coasted to a 14-0 homecoming victory over the Florida Wildcats last Friday night in Elba. The Tigers' first score came in the second quarter on a tricky 35 yard pass from Johnny Sharpless to Johnny Martin. The score followed a fumble recovery on the 36 yard line. Florida let many scoring opportunities slip by in the first half as they held Elba deep in Tiger territory most of the half. Mistakes proved costly to the Wildcats as the alert Elba team capitalized on each one.

The Tigers defense held the Wildcats to 70 yards rushing. Elba's second TD was posted in the third quarter on a 4 yard back by Eric Paul. Both extra points were true and the score ended 14-0. The Tigers take on the Enterprise Wildcats in the Wildcat stadium this Friday night.

Co-op Moves To Sanford

Covington Electric Cooperative is moving to new quarters. President Ira Allen announced this week that the Cooperative expects to open for business at its new headquarters at Sanford, located on U.S. Highway 84 East between Andalusia and Opelika, on Friday morning, October 13.

Business will be transacted from the office Covington Electric now shares with Alabama Electric Cooperative on U.S. Highway 29 North in Andalusia through Thursday, October 12. Allen stated, with all operations being transferred to the new headquarters facilities on Oct. 13.

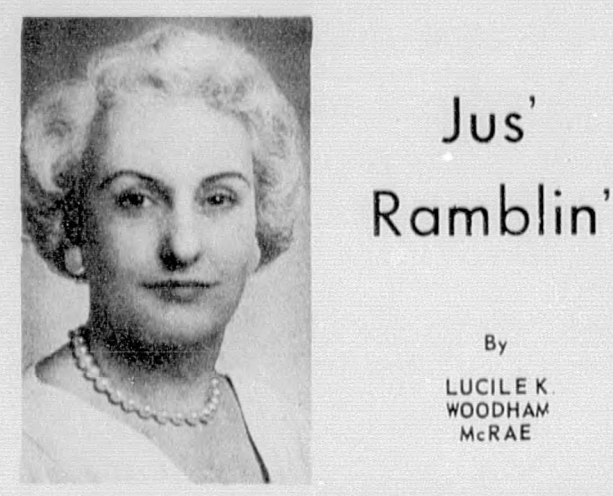

Of most modern design, the new Covington Electric offices consist of over 15,000 square feet of office and warehouse space, together with truck parking and related facilities.

Completely all electric, the buildings feature a heating and cooling system which allows each individual office to be heated or cooled to the desired temperature.

The new facilities were designed by Southern Engineering Company, of Atlanta, Ga. Construction of the new building was completed in September of 1966, was carried out by Waller Construction Company, of Andalusia.

Allen stated that Covington Electric would have the same mailing address as previously, said.

However, with the completion and occupancy of new headquarters facilities, Covington Electric will assume full responsibility for operation of its power system, utilizing its own personnel and equipment, Allen said.

SOME POLITICAL observers keep saying that George Wallace will only muddy up the water in running for president as a third party candidate and will only assure the re-election of Lyndon Baines Johnson. The way LBJ's popularity goes up and down it just might turn out that Lyndon Baines Johnson will assure the election of George Corley Wallace for president. Somewhere in there are the Republicans and they just might do some "rambling", also.

Next year will be an interesting election year. I'm looking forward to the excitement for exciting it will be. "DO YOU ever have the feeling that this kooky old world is getting kookier?" . . . We say things we don't need with money we don't have to impress people we don't like, and when we can't meet the payments, we merely arrange for one "friendly, gigantic, impossible loan" to get rid of the friendly, little, impossible loans." The above is a quote from the Gazette, Sterling, Ill.

ONE GOOD thing about silence is that it can't be repeated.

WHAT IS PROSPERITY? Something we feel, fold and send to Washington.

BET THIS is something you didn't know. Letter carriers' uniforms are a 50-50 blend of Union Blue and Confederate Gray.

"In ten years from now where can the people be?" Apparently at the rate we are increasing in population there will not even be standing room within a few years.

"We're told that world population is currently 3.5 billion persons and increasing at the rate of 70 million per year and that by the year 2000, world population will be nearly double that of today. That's only 33 years away!"

"Some . . . seem to dream along from year to year, giving little attention to what's being done by elected officials and then come up screaming when an announcement is made concerning public services that might affect their pocketbooks," says J. Rimes in Arlington, Washington.

Russell Cave, a natural shelter in the northeastern corner of Alabama, displays ancient hunting gear and remnants of household wares which unfold 8,000 years of man's history. Uncovered only 14 years ago, this Bridgeport cave is now a national monument. Scientists already consider Russell one of the major archaeological finds of this century.

Indians lit their fires and lived in the cave over 4,000 years before the Great Pyramid of Egypt was built. For hundreds of generations these cave dwellers lived by hunting and gathering. They left behind the primitive tools of their trade which present day Alabamians use to trace the progress of civilization.

Lions in the Garden, Rembrandts in Kitchen - Britain's Stately Homes

WILTSHIRE, ENGLAND (CFN)—The guard wares you on, carefully locking the heavy wire gates behind your car. Then you come to the series of signs: "All persons entering the Lion Reserve do so at their own risk." "Shut all windows." "Do not attempt to leave your vehicle. In case of breakdown, sound your horn and wait for patrol vehicle."

The wilds of Africa? Hardy. You're in Wiltshire, Southwest England, and on the 100-acre reserve at Longleat House, the beautiful 16th century home of the Marquess of Bath. And the lions, almost 50 strong, are real, recruited from zoos and movie sets. They roam the fenced-in reserve, yawn at visitors and have a habit of getting in the way of traffic. It costs one pound ($2.80) to tour the reserve in your car under the watchful eyes of khaki-clad rifle-toting "white hunters."

The lion colony is one of the latest attractions to be found at Britain's many stately homes, according to the British Travel Association. Open to the public, the historic homes are interesting for their architecture, elaborate rooms and furnishings, gardens and surrounding parks.

But in recent years their owners have come up with a variety of "added attractions."

At Beaulieu Abbey, a ghost-haunted 15th century monastery near Southampton, Lord Montagu invites guests to see his collection of over 100 vintage cars, including a 1909 Rolls Royce Silver Ghost, a collection of antique motorcycles; a maritime museum. There's also a strip for auto and motorcycle events. And if that isn't enough wheeled fun for you, you can get off for a spin in a go-kart. Beaulieu is the most popular of the stately homes, attracting some 600,000 visitors a year.

Sights to See
Almost as popular is Woburn Abbey, about 40 miles north of London and the ancestral home of the Duke of Bedford. In the 3,000-acre park there are 11 different varieties of deer and herds of European and American bison among the thousands of animals. You can view them from a "jungle truck" that takes you around the park for 60 cents.

The imposing Georgian house is crammed with art—including Rembrandts and Gainsboroughs—fine porcelain, and beautiful examples of French and English cabinet-making. For a princely fee, you can join the Duke on a candlelit tour of the house, have a champagne dinner and then spend the night. Regular admission fees are modest; however, it costs but one shilling (14 cents)

Funeral services were held Monday at 11 A.M. from the Elba First Baptist Church.

Survivors include two sons, Leroy Bowdoin, Live Oak, Florida and Foy Bowdoin, Elba; five daughters, Mrs. Ruth Hawkins and Mrs. Wayne Boswell, both of Elba; Mrs. Danette Precourt, Mahabourne, Florida; Mrs. Winnie Harrison, Montgomery, Ala.; and Mrs. Marianne Andrews, Birmingham.

Three sisters, Mrs. Annie Mae Lee, Mrs. Minnie Lee Calhoun and Mrs. Leona Jackson, all of Elba and 10 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 P.M. Tuesday for Mrs. Winnie Inez Morris, age 71, a native and lifelong resident of Coffee County who died Sunday in Enterprise hospital, today, this week, following a short illness.

Funeral services were held in the Whitewater Baptist Church with the Rever-

Stately Homes
Inside the 15th century house is a priceless collection of more than 400 Staffordshire pottery figures dating from before the 1890's. This stately home is famous for its tea, served with homemade cakes and scones. Lord Gerton, the owner, likes to chat with visitors and leaves all mechanical concerns to his son, the Hon. John Gerton.

But there are many more stately homes, each with its own special attractions. Burghley House, near Stamford, Lincolnshire, has over 700 paintings on view, including a Rubens that hangs in the kitchen and an outstanding collection of Italian art. Hardwick Hall in Derbyshire contains what has been called the most beautiful room in Europe; it's little chamber has a Tudor Warwick Castle in Warwick has a famous collection of pictures and ancient weapons. Claydon, near London, boasts of a fine Nightingale museum and a series of concerts with champagne suppers.

Visiting stately homes is a good way to add variety—and a lot of fun—to a tour of the English countryside. Many can be reached by bus from major cities. For further information, write to the British Travel Association, 80 Trafalgar Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Law Concerning Handling of Livestock Passed
A bill which may save Alabama livestockmen a half million dollars each year was passed at the last legislative session.

Extension Chairman Casaday reported today that the act defines treatment and handling of livestock in transit and at markets. He stated that the law provides reasonable rules and regulations for the humane treatment of animals.

Sticks, canes or whips may not be used in any way that could injure an animal. Chains, spikes and clubs are prohibited.

Violation of the provisions of the act is considered a misdemeanor.

Anyone convicted may be fined from $10 to $100 and imprisoned up to six months.

Casaday points out that livestockmen take precautions to avoid animal injuries, such as removing horns from calves and removing machinery from the feedlot.

Also, check trucks for danger points, says Casaday. Check bedding and ventilation. See that there are no broken boards or protruding nails. Narrow doors, low tie rods and upper decks are hazards, too.

Attend The Church of Your Choice Sunday

What nostalgic memories this picture brings. Every Sunday morning we used to drive to Church in Pop's old "river" picking up the Parson on the way. Today I live in a great city. I ride commuter's trains, and dictate letters, and spend endless hours "in conference". But I've never forgotten our Church in the field. It plowed deep furrows in my life, and planted the seeds of real happiness. Now I worship in a big city church. You might think it would be different; but it isn't. Folks are just as friendly. The Truth is just the same. And God is just as close. You see, in the country or in the city, Christians are conscientious people trying to be better. And for folks like you and me who worship God, the Church — big or little — is home.

Army Chinook Logs Record Flying Hours

A CH-47 Chinook of the Army's 147 Assault Support Helicopter Company logged 1000 combat flying hours in the Republic of Vietnam recently. The record of 1000 combat flying hours was attained while flying direct combat support for the Special Forces camp at Duc Hoa. The model 1965 Chinook "996" arrived in country a year ago, August. At that time Specialist Five Gilbert K. Butts Jr., Baltimore, Md., became flight engineer. The two became an almost inseparable pair with Butts flying 600 of the record hours in the "996". The combination of man and aircraft was a good one. Seeing action in Operations Junction City, Attleboro, and numerous smaller operations 996 took only seven hits from hostile fire for the entire period. The magnitude of setting such a record can be gauged by realizing that during the 1000 hours the aircraft went through temperatures as high as 120 degrees.

Crops Contaminated By Crotalaria
Crotalaria, once praised as a prime legume for its soil building qualities, has now been placed on the soybean and corn farmer's pest list.

Extension Soybean Specialist Dean Bond points out that a great percentage of corn and soybean meal are used in livestock and poultry feed. Crotalaria seed, when mixed into feed, are extremely toxic to livestock and are particularly toxic to poultry since the smaller animals have a lower tolerance.

The plant has beautiful bright yellow flowers similar to the common garden snap pea, says Bond, and is easily recognized in crop fields. When the infestation is light, n-pulling the pest is the most effective way to prevent contamination and University Wildlife Specialist Earl F. Kennamer, removing Crotalaria from the rowends but he recommends the use of automatic sprayers and border areas also helps. Adds the Extension specialist.

OCTOBER IS BEEF MONTH

OCTOBER IS BEEF MONTH in Alabama and the 12,000 members of the Alabama Cattlemen's Association and Alabama Cow-BELLES are spearheading a statewide celebration saluting the state's growing beef cattle industry. Pretty Carol Wadsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wadsworth, Prattville, is pictured above holding an over-sized T-bone steak calling attention to the importance of Alabama's $122,000,000 BEEF industry. Governor Wallace has proclaimed that OCTOBER IS BEEF MONTH and has urged Alabamians to "EAT MORE BEEF" and join in saluting the cattlemen on the growth of the beef cattle industry in the state.

The Extension Service specialist suggests cutting the explosive into use at the critical period just before full ripening. The device can only be used for about three weeks. After that, the crows get wise and learn to avoid the traps.

Other control methods used by pecan growers are firecracker ropes, electronic callers, exploding shotgun shells, traps and repellents.

Early and complete harvesting are also recommended by Kennamer to cut down losses. Missions of "996" have been widespread and varied from recovering a VC printing press in the delta to picking up six downed aircraft in the III and IV Corps area in a single day. Major Charles H. Gilman, Commanding Officer of the 147th Assault Support Helicopter Company, was piloting the aircraft when the record was attained. Warrent Officer Jacob H. Stevens of Elba, Alabama, was Aircraft Commander. SP5 Butts was flying as flight engineer, and SP4 Norton, of Plympton, Mass., was crew chief.

Carbide Gun Used As Control Method
How do you fend off those furry and feathered creatures which insist on making life off with your pecan crop? No single control method completely scares away squirrels, crows and other pests, says Auburn University Wildlife Specialist Earl F. Kennamer, removing Crotalaria from the rowends but he recommends the use of automatic sprayers and border areas also helps. Adds the Extension specialist.

The bow and arrow season for hunting untiered deer will run from Nov. 10 through Nov. 23, and the gun season will run from Nov. 24 through Jan. 15.

Vietnam Veterans Entitled To Compensation

Alabama veterans who receive compensation checks because they were disabled in military service during the Vietnam era—after August 4, 1964—will be entitled to compensation at the same full wartime rates provided for veterans of other wartime service. Neil R. Smart, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Montgomery, announced today.

For a Viet-Nam era veteran already drawing compensation at the peacetime rate, VA will automatically adjust the award to pay the higher wartime rates, beginning October 1.

A recent new law also makes Viet-Nam era veterans and dependents of deceased veterans eligible for the first time for VA pensions. Pensions are payable to low income veterans permanently and totally disabled from reasons not traceable to their military service.

Needy widows and surviving minor children of Viet-Nam veterans who died of nonservice connected causes also may receive pensions under the new law.

Dangerous Spider Recently Found In Alabama

A poisonous spider potentially more dangerous than the black widow has been found in parts of Alabama. Extension Entomologist Dr. Roy I. Ledbetter says he has positively identified specimens sent from Florence, Huntsville, Athens and Double Springs as the brown recluse spider. He adds that the spider is nonaggressive but bites when molested. Depending upon the amount of venom injected and individual sensitivity, a victim may not be aware of the bite for two to three hours or a painful reaction may occur immediately.

A stinging sensation is usually followed by intense pain. Within the next 24 to 36 hours fever, chills, weakness, nausea and vomiting are experienced. In case of a bite, the victim should consult a physician immediately and if possible take the spider which caused the bite for positive identification.

The brown recluse spider may be controlled with either DDT or chlordane, according to Ledbetter. Apply to areas where they are found or suspected. Also spray door and window facings.

WE LIKE KIDS

Don't you? Then protect them by driving a safe car, and always driving it safely!

As the children go back to school, join our "drive for safety." First have your car checked for safety. Then drive carefully everywhere, especially in school zones. Remember, children should be seen, not hurt!

FARM NEWS

SOYBEANS help organize other activities. The local leaders for these clubs are Mrs. M. Pleasant Community, Mrs. Jean and I made a tour of some fields early in the week. Britt has grown soybeans for a number of years, and I wanted him to help me check some of the fields to find out when to harvest and to guess at some yields.

We found that Mike Stephenson of Route 3, Elba, and Heber Clark, Rowe Bowers and Bud Spinks all of Route 4, Elba, have a pretty good crop of beans made. It is difficult to estimate soybean yields, but we believe they will go above the state average which is about 24 bushels per acre. We will know quite a bit more about soybeans after they are combined and sold.

ELBA 4-H CLUBS

Extension agents Dan Presley and Virginia Dykes, through the help of the Elba school officials, have organized three new 4-H Clubs. We believe that these boys and girls will thoroughly enjoy their 4-H club work. They will meet once a month during school terms and during the summer the agents will visit their projects and help them.

FEEDER PIG SALE

Several folks have asked me about where they could buy feeder pigs. Quite a few are produced locally and can be obtained at the Enterprise and Elba stockyards on their sale days. There are several other places to buy feeder pigs, but it pays to be fire conscious and to train your children to be likewise.

PECANS

It appears that quite a few Coffee County folks will make quite a bit of pecans, but others will be disappointed in their yields. Now is a good time to prepare for the harvest. Some of our best managers disk or mow closely to avoid losing pecans in the grass and trash. We don't know how many tree shakers are being used, but you might be able to hire one on the custom basis. Expanded Hog Program

We had about one-half dozen calls at the office this week for plans for farrowing houses and other plans involving hog production. Extension Farm Agent Speed points out that more and more folks are trying to get in the hog business and are trying to do a big enough business to make some money. In connection with this, the sixth annual South Alabama All Breed Hog Sale will be held Friday, October 27, at the Houston County Farm Center at 1:00 p.m. Breeds to be offered are Hampshire, Duroc, Spotted Landrace, Poland China and Yorkshire. This may be a good time for Coffee County hog growers to get good breeding stock at reasonable prices.

COTTON STALKS

I still see some cotton stalks that haven't been shredded. One of the best ways to lower boll weevil population is to destroy his food supply. The way that

SOIL FERTILITY

Soil fertility in Coffee County is something that affects everyone because a lot of our County prosperity is wrapped up in soil fertility. So naturally everyone should be interested in our soil fertility program. The Soil and Water Conservation District promotes wise use of land, fertilizer and lime. Land Capability maps are available in local Soil Conservation Service Office. Soil samples can be tested at Auburn University. Poor soils mean low income to farmers because they are unable to produce their crop at low cost. Fertile soils mean high income to farmers because they are able to grow high yields at a lower cost. Enterprise Defeats Elba 20-0 Friday

The powerful Enterprise Wildcats defeated the Elba Tigers by a score of 20-0 last Friday night in Enterprise.

The cats started the game with a razzle-dazzle hand-off kick off return and followed with a 49 yard pass completion to set up the first score minutes after the game opened. The Tigers held the Enterprise team away from the goal line for the rest of the first half and until the last minutes of the game it looked as if the Elba Tigers would break loose and defeat the mighty Enterprise eleven.

Another Elba Quarterback, Johnny Sharpless, joined Quarterback Joel Martin on the injured list this week. Sharpless received injuries to the rib section in the Enterprise game and Freshman Donnie Holley took over the quarterbacking chores during practice this week. Elba journeys to Samson this week and will return to Elba the next week to face Geneva.

County Car Tag Sales Lagging

County officials are showing increasing concern over the lack of interest in purchasing 1968 motor vehicle tags.

The Tax Assessor, Tax Collector and Probate Judge indicate that they will handle the rush the best they can but will not be able to handle everyone at the last minute regardless of how long the lines get. Note: a person can just walk in and get a tag any time of the day, NOW!

The truck tags have not yet arrived in Coffee County but a truck owner can assess his truck now and avoid a penalty for being late even if he can't get a tag until November.

County Hog Producers To Tour North Alabama

Coffee County is proud to have one of the largest county hog associations in Alabama. The group, organized only two years ago, has over 100 active members.

The Association was organized to promote a more profitable hog business in the county, said Robert English of Elba Rt. 3. "Our group has jointly sponsored with the Coffee County Extension Service the 4-H hog show and area market hog sales."

This meeting is to reorganize the local Boy Scout Troop that has lapsed in recent years. The boys will be fed a supper of hot dogs and soft drinks with a cookie for the ones with the sweet tooth.

There will be an organizational Scout meeting at the City Recreation building on Tuesday at 6 p.m. The meeting is sponsored by the Elba Lions Club and the Jaycees.

English, president of the association, and other officers have just completed plans for about 35 hogmen to tour packing plants and hog operations in central and north Alabama. The group will leave by bus.
